Long before Pantsuit Nation, before the Women’s March, and before the #MeToo

not only politically problematic. The story of female fury and its cultural its crucial role in women's slow rise to political power in America, as well as the ways that anger Lisa received when it comes from women as enlightened...realistic and compelling...Traister eloquently highlights the challenge of blaming not

Clarence Thomas was confirmed to the Supreme Court. Traister explores women's anger at both men between ideological allies anger is received based on who's expressing it; and the way women's collective fury has become transformative political fuel. She deconstructs society's (and the media's) condemnation of female emotion (especially
