P.G. Wodehouse and Nancy Mitford, herself a 'Bright Young Thing', portray the 'Roaring Twenties' in Britain in their novels.
Both authors politely poke fun at the socialites and upper classes, but their novels give a good idea of the heady days of the 1920s.
The experiences during the War influenced British society, particularly women.

history of London of the early 20th century, from 1900 to the outbreak of World War II in 1939. London entered the 20th century at the height of its influence as the capital of the largest empire in history, but the new century was to bring many challenges. London was the largest city in the world from about 1825 until it was overtaken by New York City in 1925.
